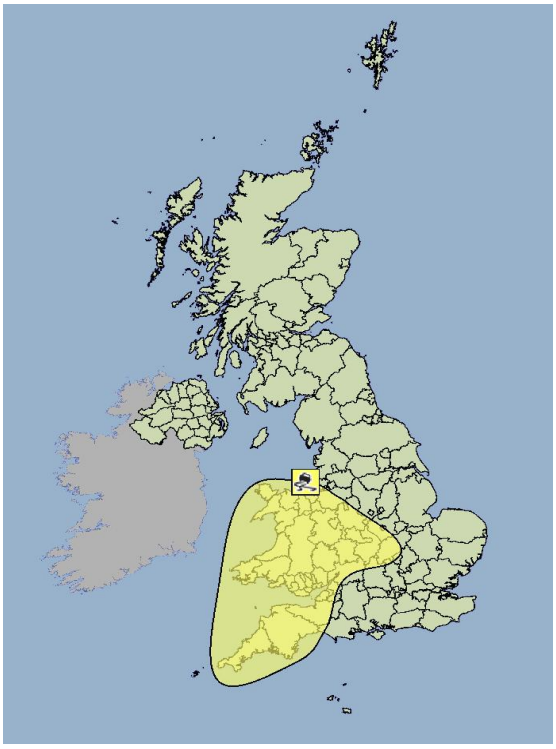
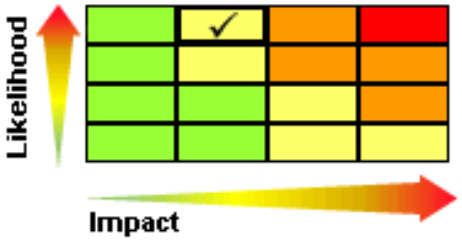
National Severe Weather Warning Service





Chief Forecasters Assessment
The cold conditions with a mixture of clear spells and wintry showers will continue through Sunday night and Monday morning. This will result in temperatures falling rapidly on Sunday evening and icy patches developing on untreated surfaces, especially where any wintry showers lead to wash off of previous treatment.

Any heavier snow showers may lead to temporary accumulations of 1 cm or less at low levels whilst over higher ground, above approximately 200 m, as much as 2 to 5 cm may accumulate in a few places.

The Met Office have issued a Yellow Warning of Ice

Valid from 17:00 on Sun, 11th Feb 2018 until 10:00 on Mon, 12th Feb 2018

Icy patches are expected to form on untreated roads, pavements and cycle paths on Sunday night and Monday morning.

This is likely to lead to some injuries from slips and falls.
